

Montclair Art Museum

Social Story for Art Students

MAM
MONTCLAIR ART MUSEUM

This museum is called the Montclair Art Museum. We are going to the museum to have fun making art in an art studio with an art instructor.

We will enter the museum through the Nathaniel C. Harris Jr. entrance to go to art class.

We will see the Welcome Desk when we come in to the museum.

There will be someone here to greet us.

Some of the people at the museum will be wearing masks and others will not. It's up to you to decide if you want to wear a mask.

We will go to a room with tables, chairs and art supplies to make some art with the art teacher.

Rooms where people make art are sometimes called “studios”.

This room is called Geyer Studio.

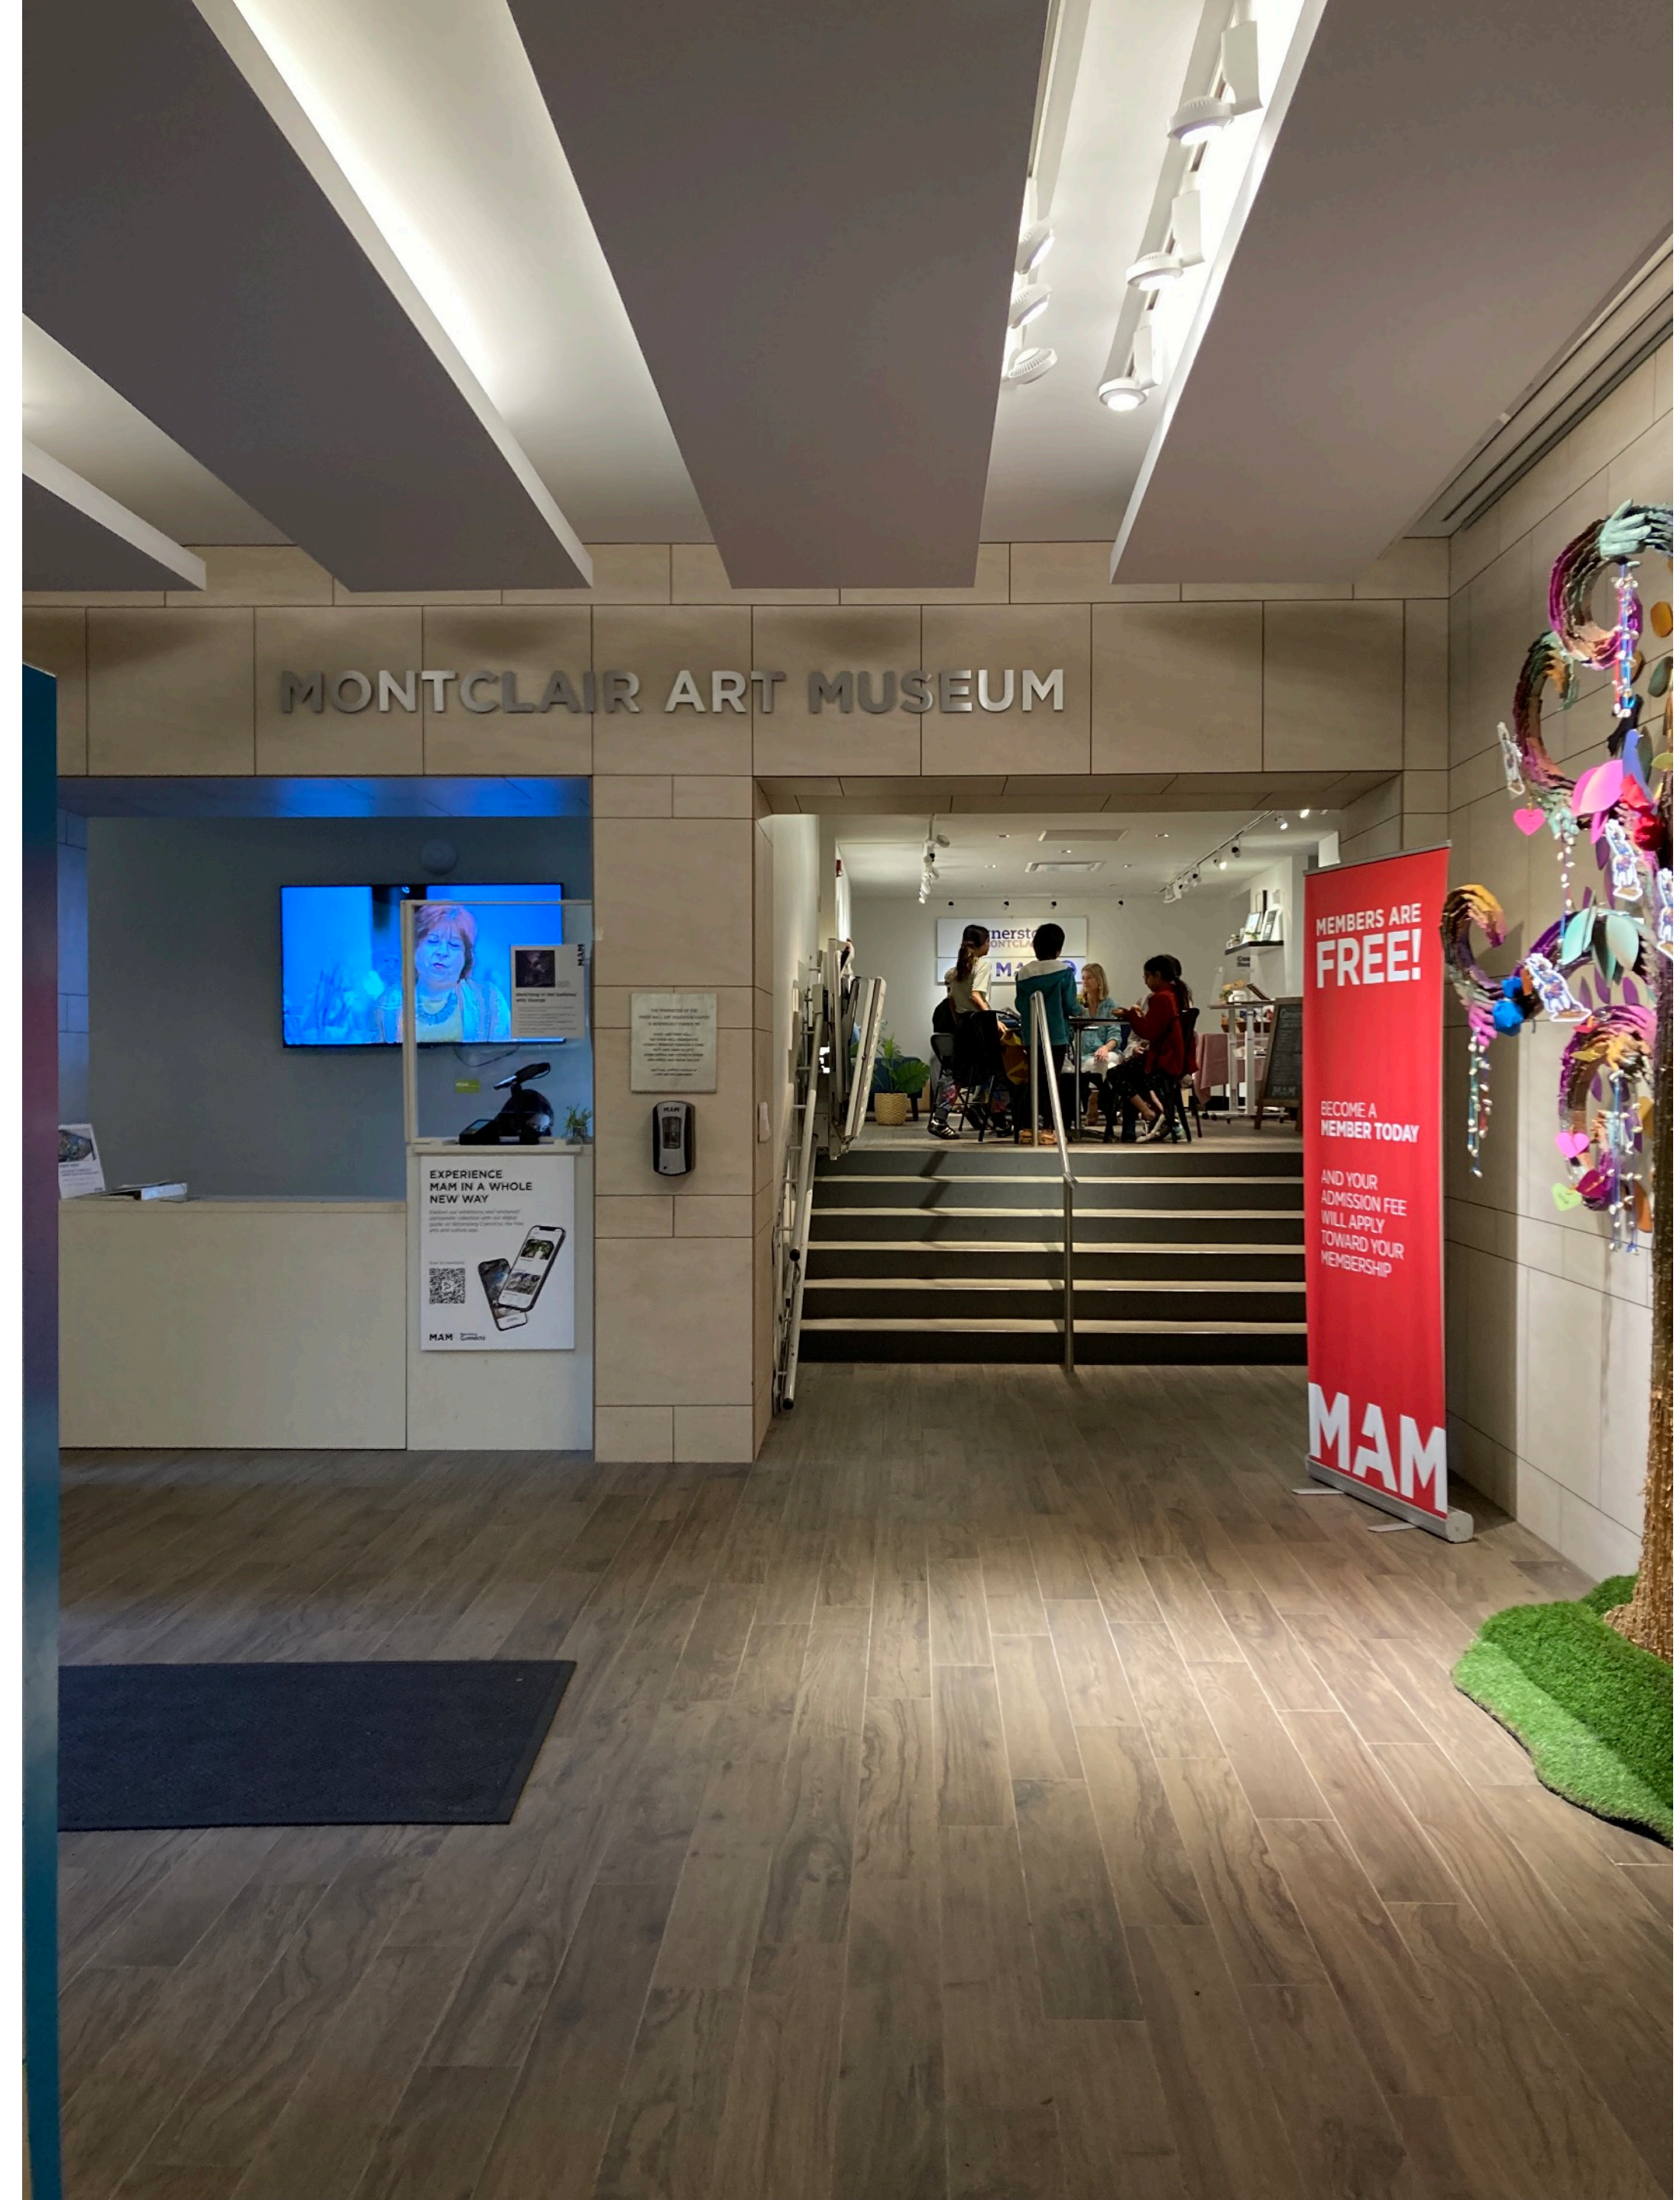

This room is called Studio A.

There are several restrooms in the museum.

We can go up the stairs next to the Welcome Desk to find the restrooms for men and women.

There is also a restroom located in the hallway between Studio A and Studio B.

This restroom can be used by anyone. It has a single stall and a door that locks for privacy.

If we want to, we can bring our headphones or a fidget toy from home, or we can borrow them at the museum.

The art teacher will help us decide what to make and what art supplies to use.

We can make art using art supplies that we have used before, like markers and pencils.

We might want to try using art supplies that are new to us, like paint.

We might want to try making art with clay.

We can let the teacher know what art supplies we like best.

We can take our art home when we are finished.